The diagram illustrates the connection of a USB cable. On the left, a USB cable is shown with a standard USB-A connector and a USB-B connector. In the center, a power supply unit (PSU) is shown with a USB-B port. A red arrow points from the USB-B connector of the cable to the USB-B port on the PSU. On the right, a device (likely a power supply or a similar component) is shown with a USB-A port. A red arrow points from the USB-A connector of the cable to the USB-A port on the device. The entire diagram is enclosed in a red-bordered box.
